

Mountain Range tool

Regarding adjusting landscaping to basement level I have been experimenting with the Mountain Range tool that enables you to draw out individual areas.

Once you have defined area you can then adjust separate height points eg

You can also select Mountain Range tab and change settings here in particular one circled below

In attached example you can see how different areas have been added to get result below.

With Terrain Shape selected you can see areas in 3D

